There is more cancer in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many ears doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven cancer to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment.
Hall's Ointment Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., H.T. John, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken interna-

WEST VIRGINIA NEIGHBORS.

NEWS FROM COUNTRIES JUST ACROSS THE RIVER IN WEST VIRGINIA.

Charleston, W. Va., August 5.—United States Senator Clarence W. Watson is going to manage his own campaign for re-election to the United States Senate. That is the quiet tip coming to the Panhandle people from Washington, and it is taken to mean the termination of the alliance made at Charleston last winter, which resulted in the election of Senators Watson and Clifton to the United States Senate.

It does not mean that there is a separation entirely between the two West Virginia Senators, but it is regarded as a move upon the part of Senator Watson to gain a commanding position at the head of the Democratic party in West Virginia. It is a tactful move on the part of the Senator, and he is estimated as the political game and will devote a great part of the energy he formerly expended in the organization of a giant coal corporation toward the building of his own party.

While it is expected that Senator Clifton will assist his colleague in the next campaign, it is generally well understood that the Kentucky Senator will not be unusually active, and with the exception of a few speeches he will allow the Fairmont Senator to make the organization with which he expects to win another Democratic victory in West Virginia.

It is now generally conceded that while Senator Watson was not to the political game, he held a balance of power in the Senate. With the help of Watson, his organization it would be as easy for Colonel Hefner to grow to have pulled out for Senator Clifton. But Mr. Watson is not a man to be trifled with.

The fact that Senator Watson is going to manage his own campaign for re-election will give him complete leadership of his party if he is successful. He was largely instrumental in the Democratic victory in 1916, and should history repeat itself in the next election Senator Watson will step into the shoes of the late Senator Stephen B. Elkins as the dictator of the politics of the state. The Fairmont Senator is a young man, new in the political world, and while at the outset of his campaign he is opposed by a sturdy band of insurgents, they are going to have to work two or three shifts a day to get his scalp.

The passage by the Federal Congress this week of the reapportionment bill means another Congressman from the state of West Virginia, and the failure of the Legislature last winter to pass a congressional redistricting bill makes so imperative that the additional Congressman will be selected at large, and it is going to be a juicy little plum for some patriot to pluck.

NOW ONE WOMAN WON

Her Health and Strength Back Again by The Use of Cardui.

Tampa, Fla.—In a letter from this city, Mrs. E. C. Corum writes: "I was all worn out and worn out with weekly troubles. My husband brought me some Cardui as a tonic, and from the first day, it seemed to help. I had almost lost my reason, but thanks to Cardui, I did not. Soon, I felt and looked like a new woman. I think the remedy is wonderful. I recommended it to my friends, for I have received great benefit from it." Cardui acts specifically on the weak and womanly organs, strengthening the muscles and nerves, and building them up to health. It helps to refresh the worn-out nervous system and relieves the effects of overwork both mental and physical. Fifty years' successful use fully prove the merit of this purely vegetable, non-toxic remedy for women. In every community, there live some who have been benefited by Cardui. The beneficial effects of this time-tested woman's remedy, soon show themselves in many different ways.

STING NEWS

For besides the emoluments the Congressman at large is going to receive, anyone would rather be a Congressman at large, representing an entire state like a United States Senator, than to be a mere Congressman looking after appointments in the fourth-class Postmaster engaged in the large will have some of the family disapproval to distract around the yard, over the fence. The Congressmen are, until somebody lucky falls into the hands of the warden, through the Senator from West Virginia, the National Congress will serve in the Low. A made barrel hoop. An old hen makes a fine net for this purpose. The net should be about two feet deep. Lay it down, mouth up, put a few grains of corn on top, pretend you are looking the other way, and when a chicken comes on the net to pick up the corn lift it suddenly, tip it slightly to one side, and you have the fowl safe. If you are particularly expert, the net may be dropped down over the bird.

Handling Ducks and Geese. Always handle ducks and geese by their necks and never by the legs as fowls are handled for these limbs are not strong enough to serve as handles and will readily break.

War on Lice. Make continual war on the lice if your poultry house is infested with them. If free from them, see to it that your premises are kept free.

Poultry. Do not forget the shady nooks. The fowls need them. Houses must be kept sanitary and the fowls free from vermin. It is the even steady thrift of our stock that makes them pay a profit. The comb not only denotes egg laying but the general condition of the hen. Lice are working havoc, and too severe measures cannot be adopted to destroy them. Already the fowls are assuming a rusty appearance. It is getting near their molting season. It should be remembered that chicks do not need any feed for the first 12 to 36 hours after hatching. It is preferable to keep a box of dry chaff constantly before the fowls, allowing them to eat all they wish. To insure fertile eggs it is most essential that the breeding stock should be as well fed as timely mated. The growing cockerels should now be separated from the pullets, and the former given an extra allowance of feed. Three-fourths of the disease could be traced to impure air, dampness, improper food, close breeding and ill-chosen conditions. A hen that goes around with her mouth open is not a comfortable hen; she is too warm. Give her a place to sit down and cool off. Throw open the windows every night, but tuck some wide-meshed cloth of some kind over them to keep out things that have no business in the house.

Money From Hogs on Forage. The Missouri Experiment Station has just given out the results of an experiment lasting three years which shows large profits from feeding hogs on forage crops. The average income per acre from clover forage was $14.11, from rape and oats $12.63, from corn and cowpeas $19.88 and from blue grass $17.71. The estimates are all made on the basis of 60 cents a bushel for the corn fed and 6 cents a pound for the pork produced. The results are important as indicating what may be accomplished when the hogs themselves do all the harvesting. This bulletin, which is numbered 35, was written by Dean F. B. Mumford and C. A. Wilson and can be had on request by writing to the Director of the Experiment Station, Columbia, Missouri.

Increasing Brain Power. The State Agricultural Station at Wooster, Ohio, has apparently proved its theory that if hogs were fed certain foods which would produce bigger brains they would become better managed, more cleanly and would provide better pork than the ordinary swine. The experiment was started over a year ago last fall with forty selected pigs, which were placed in sanitary, modern pen and reared on special food made from selected grains. Some months after this treatment and cleanly life, when let loose from the pen, these hogs showed their breeding by not associating at all with the common hogs on the station farm. Unfortunately for the hogs, however, there was no way of telling how much brains the brain food had developed in them without a post-mortem examination. So they were killed as a sacrifice to science. Their meat has been pronounced by experts to be the most succulent and tender ever seen, and their carcasses will be sold at a big advance over the regular market price of pork.

Exercise Important. Plenty of exercise is important for the pregnant sow, says Coburn in his "Swine in America." It should be insisted upon and provided in the way the breeder finds best adapted to his situation. A large pasture is not always available, but the breeder may secure results by arranging the house at one end of the hog lot and the feeding floor at the other end, or by giving the sows water in such a way that to procure it they will be compelled to walk some distance a number of times each day.

If you allow feed to sour in the troughs, you must expect the animals to be thrown off their feed. Thirty years Together. Thirty years of association—think of it. How the merit of a good thing stands out in that time—or the worthlessness of this evidence of Thos. Aris, Concord, Mich., who writes: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery for 30 years, and it's the best cough and cold cure I ever used." Once it finds entrance in a home you can't pry it out. Many families have used it forty years. It's the most infallible throat and lung medicine on earth. Unequaled for lagrippe, asthma, hay fever, croup, quinsy or sore lungs. Price 50c, $1.00. HOME CIRCLE COLUMN.

COLUMN DEDICATED TO TIRED MOTHERS AS THEY JOIN THE HOME CIRCLE.

A good washing machine costs from five to eight dollars, but a washboard can be bought for twenty-five cents. This kind of economy gives a good many men a chance to look for a second wife.

There is a demand for good boys. The boy who is honest, earnest and industrious, will not be long out of a job. There are lots of prosperous business men, merchants and mechanics, who are constantly on the outlook for good boys. They do not look for them on the streets, however, but in some sort of employment. They have no use for an idle boy. He is too apt to make an idle man.

The difference between good and bad mothers, is so vast and so far-reaching that it is no exaggeration to say that the good mothers of this generation are building the homes of the next generation, and the bad mothers are building the prisons. For out of families nations are made; and if the father be the head and the hands of a family, the mother is the heart. No office in the world is so honorable as hers, no priesthood so holy, no influence so sweet and strong and lasting.

There are none of us so poor but we can train a few roses on the humble wall and their scent as beauty will long be remembered, and many a boy, instead of going to loaf upon the public highway will linger at home among the flowers. Moral degradation always begins at home.

What beautiful and tender associations cluster thick around the word "memory." The thought of it is a very shield; the name of it has a spell to call back the wanderer from the path of vice and far away where the myrtle blooms and the palm trees wave, and the ocean sleeps upon coral strands, to the exile's fond fancy it clothes the naked rock, or stormy shore, or barren moor, or wild height and mountain with charms he weeps to think of and longs once more to see.

Encouragement is something we naturally look for. A little praise—a word of hope or a cheerful smile—something for the hungry soul to grasp and the weary mind to rest upon, as we climb the tollsome mountain of life. How many poor hearts have sunk into despondency, when a little encouragement has reassured them. The soldier looks for it on the field of battle; it is the cheering voice of his leader that urges him on through the danger of death and crowns the day with victory.

Fine clothes and costly jewelry do not convert a rough into a gentleman any more than a stovepipe hat and a cigar make a man of a monkey. A few smart, well-learned quotations from eminent authors will not convey the impression that you are conversant with literature. You are apt to become scorched in the flames you kindle, for your literary companions will soon sound your shallow depths and your ignorance will appear more glaring than before.

Whatever place your ambition prompts you to select as your field for future labor, however lofty and difficult of access the height may be, fit yourself for it by slow and laborious process of study and toil. Begin at the very bottom round of the ladder, lay the foundation firm and secure; build your structure of future greatness upon a thorough knowledge of your life work in all its bearings. In fact, be what you seem, and seem to be nothing but what you are.

Let us not wait for chances for doing good to come to us, but to go out to meet them. Too many beautiful opportunities escape us otherwise. As charity begins at home, so should love. We don't care much for either the charity or love that would leave its nearest to want for duty or affection and go out into the world to work. We find it delightful plan to make each one of our home-folks happy about some one thing each day of our life—plan little surprises for them, brighten a dull hour, or congratulate them upon some achievement of their own.

Money is a good thing, especially in these times, but there is something much more valuable. It is character, the consciousness of a pure and honorable life. This it should be a young man's first aim preserve at any cost.

Sometimes the hasty word has been spoken, the sharp, snappish word been carelessly uttered in the home circle. The true wife's heart so often bleeds at the bitter, thoughtless, but cutting word of a husband. When she is gone to heaven, and he "weeps o'er her bier" he will remember it.

Men and women don't need to swing clubs to threaten home concord. The husband, armed with a sneer, and the wife who carries waspish tongue, are just as well compared for death-dealing each other with baseball bats.

The woman of today is a different being from the woman of fifty years ago. The shrinking, trembling, weeping heroines of Thackeray and Dickens have disappeared. It is better that it is so. Not only has the woman of today shaken off those old time weaknesses, not only has she assumed a true independence, which to some is well nigh disheartening, but she has made her determination known to the world, has waved it defiantly in our faces in the shape of certain signs and symbols which have a tendency to add emphasis to her emancipation.

METHODIST FEDERATION BOARD

Rev. W. L. Reid this week attended a meeting of the Board of Federation of the M. E. Church and M. E. Church, South. He is a member of the board and this was an important special meeting. The meeting was held at Charleston, W. Va.

This is a new arrangement, the object of which is to settle disputes as to territory, avoid conflicts in church work, and save money and men to the two churches. The various conferences along the border are expected to appoint committees to act on this board, and great good is expected to result by bringing the two churches closer together and doing away with controversies and competition. Several important cases have already been settled satisfactorily by the board that met this week.

FACE STUDIES

THE PERSECUTED

in 37-Aug. 25

For men shall visit you and For shall say all manner of evil only for thy sake."—Matthew

PERSECUTION implies that the person or thing persecuted possessed some qualities or powers that are feared. When persecution is for religion it proves the persecutor realizes his own weakness to meet the argument in a rational way.

Today's study draws our attention to the persecutions endured by one of the Lord's faithful Prophets. He was a patriot in the highest sense of the word in that he looked for the highest good for his nation along the lines of divine wisdom. His principle was "God First," and he well knew that only this procedure could bring Divine Blessings to his nation.

Jeremiah imprisoned.

He was of course misunderstood by the king and his counselors.
They did not like him because he told the truth, fearlessly—they preferred sophists who would tell them of their own wisdom, greatness and the success of their policies.

At the time of the study, Zedekiah was on the throne. He was a vessel of iniquity, king of the Chal-deans, whose seat of empire was in Babylon. Hoping for assistance from Egypt, he revolted against the king of the south, Judah, and the Lord warned the king of the south, the Egyptian army started on its march.

Jeremiah persisted in declaring that the end of the kingdom that they would be swallowed up by the Babylonians.

Jeremiah's Persecution
The Chaldean army had taken the city, and Jeremiah was imprisoned. He was put in a cistern, and the king of the Chaldeans, Zedekiah, was told to do this to him. He was left there for a long time, and he was not allowed to see any one. He was only allowed to eat and drink, and he was not allowed to see any one.
He was only allowed to see the king of the Chaldeans, and he was only allowed to see the king of the Chaldeans.

Jerusalem was honeycombed with cisterns and vaults, arches and these were called They were designed to be for water in time of drought.
The bottoms of these cisterns, after the removal of the water, were frequently deep with mud and slime. The next day, the king of the Chaldeans, Zedekiah, was told to put Jeremiah in the cistern, and in the cistern there was no water but mire. So Jeremiah sank in the mire.
When finally they drew him out they took "all cast off cloths and rotten rags and let them down by cords into the cistern to Jeremiah," who put them under his arms and was drawn up by the cords. In this cistern the Prophet remained "many days."

Blessed Are They Who Are Persecuted
For Righteousness' Sake

We are reminded of others who were put in prison for righteousness' sake.

Saints Peter and John, Saints
Paul and Silas.
The world can never understand the power which operating in these men, enabled them to rejoice in persecution. With their backs bleeding from the whips and hands and feet fast in the prison, they were yet able to sing for the privilege they suffering with Christ, suffering for righteousness' sake, and a share of the afflic-tion. Such characters we are to understand and peace in the midst of persecution can come from God.

Words in our text appear today and tomorrow—so of evil is permitted—when men shall resist you, and say all manner of evil against you falsely.
But to be worthy of it means to possess a character worthy of persecution.
Declare that persecution of the faithful through this Age—

HOME CIRCLE COLUMN.

COLUMNS DEDICATED TO TIRED
MOTHERS AS THEY JOIN
THE HOME CIRCLE.

Let young girls be thoroughly impressed with the fact that on themselves, in a large degree, depends the success of the men they marry. Let them know how to cook, giving them a thorough course in the kitchen. Let them begin when their mothers left off, and we shall have a generation of girls strong, tenseful, ambitious and self-reliant, that will elevate the men, and make a harder and more aggressive people, and thousands of firebrands happier and better.

The first question a man asks when he sees a girl flirting is whether she is respectable or not; it raises a doubt at once. This being the case no modest girl can afford to indulge in the pastime. When the dawn is brushed from a peach face beauty is so marred that it can never be restored, and when a young girl throws lightly aside the sweet and modest reserve so becoming to a maiden, and which so elevates her and crabbles her to command the respect of all, she loses the great charm and becomes rather cheap and common, to use no rash terms.

There must be no drones in the home if it is to be a perfectly happy place and there must be no inordinate selfishness. An idle person and a selfish person will disturb the peace of the whole family.
While there must be loyalty and unity, there must also be great freedom for the expression of personal tastes and respect for individual activity.

Few people realize how much the little attention of every day life mean to their associates in the home, the church, the business place.
It is generally a lack of consideration which makes one forget the tiny pleasantries; but lack of consideration is really one form of selfishness, and selfishness is not considered a desirable quality. Remember that the little things of life, either good or bad, count for more with those we love than we ever know, and we should be watchful of our actions and our words.

Many a girl without the slightest talent for music is running a piano shop should be making bonnets or bread; and many a boy is studying for a learned profession whose proper sphere is the machine shop of the mill; many a man is splitting up churches who ought to be doing good service in some institution of learning, teaching or working on a farm, and many a woman is trying in vain to be a leader of society when she should be a modest homemaker in her own home.

Some men and women have easy times, but that does not mean happy times. The easy men and women do not look as might be expected. They struggle under the load of ease. When they laugh they only make believe laugh. Having such an easy time they become lazy. Their bones become stiff; their heads become clogged up and their hearts become hard. If the inhabitants of "Easy street" had to scratch for a living the result would be that they would be less troubled with dyspepsia.

We like to sing the praises of the sisterhood who remain unmarried to aged parents. The brutal world calls these self sacrificing ones peculiar or angular but if you had as many annoyances as they had had, Xanthippe would have been an angel compared with you. It is eas-lier to take care of five rollicking, romping children, than of one childish old man. Among the best women are those who allowed the bloom of life to pass away while they were caring for their parents.

While other maidens were sound asleep they were soaking the old man's feet or tucking up the covers around the invalid mother.
While other maidens were in the cotillion they were dancing attendance upon rheumatism and spreading plasters for the lame back of the septuagenarian, and beating catnip tea for insomnia.

Train the Girls.

When a girl is ten years old she should be given household duties to perform, according to her size and strength, for which a sum of money should be paid her weekly. She needs a little pocket money and the knowledge how to spend it judiciously, which can so well be given her by a mother to her little girl. She should be required to furnish a part of her wardrobe with this money. For instance, if she gets ten cents a week she should purchase all her stockings or all her gloves, as her mother may decide; and doing this under the mother's supervision, she will soon learn to trade with judgment and economy. Of course, the mother will see to it that the sum is sufficient to do this and yet leave a trifle for the child to spend as she pleases. This will supply a healthy stimulus; it will give her a proper ambition and pride in her labor and the ability to use money properly. As she grows older these household duties should be increased, with the proportionate increase of money paid for the performance of them. We know of a lady who divided the wages of a servant among her three daughters. There is a systematic arrangement of their labor, which is done with a thoroughness and sacrifice rarely found, either, with a hired girl or daughter who feels that she has to do it with nothing to encourage or stimulate her in her work.

Poverty is uncomfortable, but since cases out of ten, the best thing that can happen to a man is to be tossed overboard and compelled to sink or swim for himself.

OUR SCHOOL DEPARTMENT.

WILL OPEN NEXT MON.

While at Gallipoli last week it was our pleasure to visit the Gallipoli school. Mr. McChesney Sammons is the teacher at this place. Out of 113 in the district 104 had been enrolled. The attendance was up in ninety the day we were at the school. The opening exercises were interesting and the singing was splendid. The boys and girls of that school say they want to have the best school in the county and will try to make the school a success. Remember that the boys and girls of other schools are going to strive to have a better school than yours.

We were pleased to learn that a number of the citizens and patrons visited the opening of the school. Patrons can help the school along by their encouragement and an occasional visit. Teachers sometimes become discouraged. A few words of commendation from patrons clear away the clouds and make our burdens lighter.

Several teachers have enrolled all pupils in their district except five or six. This is a splendid beginning. Now keep up the attendance and do high grade work. Let every school try to be the banner school of the county. We know some schools are very small and perhaps there are no advanced pupils in the district. Teacher and pupils of such a school need not be discouraged. Strive to make the greatest progress of any school in the county. Your opportunity to succeed in this is just as good as that of the largest or most advanced school in the county.

Many of the teachers write that they are having flattering success for the beginning of their schools. Let us keep up the good work. Let the citizens and patrons "cheer up" the teachers and pupils. Teachers, speak words of cheer to your pupils. Write us concerning the good things of your school. We want to pass the good on to others. We want to see who will have the best report for the first month.

Since last week's issue of the News the following reports of enrollment have been received:
